Downloadable Reference Guides

Run your own event

If you want help running your own event, contact us at VA3EGY@gmail.com.

If you are ready to run an event on your own, the following reference guides are offered to any amateur radio club that would like to acquire the equipment and attract volunteers to deliver these type of events in their own communities.

Please note that you use these guides at your own risk. The authors are not responsible for any errors, omissions, or damages that may be caused by using these guides.

Check back often as these documents will be updated from time to time.
